Message from the Chairman

On behalf of the Halton Police Services Board, it is with great pride that I introduce the Police Service's 2016 Annual Report. The report highlights the many achievements we made as a police service and a civilian Board in 2016, including:

- Halton has maintained its admirable standing as one of the safest communities in Canada to live, work, raise a family and retire;
- Excellent progress has been made on the development of a Community Safety and Well-being Plan for Halton;
- Construction of HRPS' modern, innovative, new headquarters is well underway and substantial completion is expected in the summer of 2017;

- Several members of the Halton Regional Police Service have received well-deserved local, national and international recognition for their contributions to community safety.

In reflecting on our achievements, we would be remiss if we did not acknowledge the support of our many dedicated community partners and volunteers. It is through these instrumental partnerships that community safety is achieved. Consistent with the theme for this year's Police Week, we have been "Working Together for Safer Communities". These partnerships are also an essential part of the way forward in 2017, as we endeavour to reach a number of milestones, such as:

- Finalization of Halton's Community Safety and Well-being Plan with the input of community members;
  - Planning for community engagement sessions is underway.
- Completion of a review relating to Halton Regional Police Service's investigation of sexual assaults in order to ensure the provision of optimal victim support;
- Delivery of a learning forum for police and victims advocates on sexual assault, science, collaboration and victim support.

In all that we do, we are guided by an engagement-based style of policing. To borrow from Sir Robert Peel, "the people are the police and the police are the people."

Message from the Chief

It continues to be a tremendous honour to serve as your Chief of Police and it is with great pleasure that I present the Halton Regional Police Service's 2016 Annual Report. The report is a testament to the success of our organization and the more than 1,000 uniform and civilian members I have the privilege of standing behind, in front of and beside each and every day. Alongside our Police Services Board, we strive to deliver the highest quality of policing to, and ensure the safety and well-being of, the more than 550,000 people who call Halton Region home.

Our policing philosophy, One Vision, One Mission, One Team, is based on the concept that much can be achieved when police and the citizens we serve work together to solve contemporary community problems related to traffic, crime, mental health and addiction, crime prevention and vulnerable persons. This innovative and integrated approach is the foundation of Halton's Community Safety and Well-being Plan, which our Service has been developing in collaboration with our valued community partners. When launched later this year, the Plan – in conjunction with our 2017-2019 Corporate Business Plan – make clear our policing priorities, priorities that place Community First in all we do.

Speaking of community first, we anticipate that ours will continue to have the lowest crime rate of all large municipalities in Canada. This longstanding distinction is one that could not be achieved without the continued support of, and strong partnerships with, Halton's citizens – the true ambassadors of our great Region.

While policing fundamentals such as crime prevention and enforcement remained a mainstay of everyday operations in 2016, we enhanced our capacity to serve members of the public through new, community-based approaches in mental health training and crisis intervention, including the creation of a Mobile Crisis Rapid Response Team and Situation Table. Information on both is available on page 7 of this report. Recognizing that well-being starts from within, our Service also introduced our Organizational Wellness Unit that provides specialized support to officers, civilians, volunteers and members of their families in times of need.

All of these are in addition to advances in human resources, technology and facilities, which include partnerships with the Halton Multicultural Council and Canadian Centre for Diversity and Inclusion, the creation of our Cyber Crime Unit, and construction of our new Headquarters. When completed later this year, the state-of-the-art facility will be the hub of police operations and administration in Halton Region.

As I reflect upon my formative years with the Halton Regional Police Service as a Constable in 1982, I am in awe of how far we have come as a Service and as a community since that time, and know we have much to look forward to in 2017 and beyond. Deputy Chiefs Nishan Duraipappah and Carol Crowe, the senior leadership team and all Halton Regional Police Service members are as committed as I am to our goal of ensuring Halton Region remains as safe tomorrow as it is today. Through community involvement, mobilization and citizen engagement, we are well positioned to maintain our reputation as Canada's safest regional municipality to live, work, raise a family and retire for many years to come.

Halton Regional Police Service 2016 Service Highlights

The Halton Regional Police Service's (HRPS) 2016 Annual Report provides an overview of its departmental objectives, key programs and statistical measures of performance as related to the 2014-2016 Corporate Business Plan.

This Plan focuses on four distinct themes (Community Safety, Outreach and Collaboration, Organizational Capacity, and Organizational Excellence) and 27 associated goals that guide the delivery of police services in Halton Region.

The following is a top-line summary of the 2016 Service highlights in four key areas: Operations, Human Resources, Technology and Facilities as they relate to the Corporate Business Plan.

Operations:

By The Numbers: The Communications Bureau received 254,510 telephone calls in 2016, 108,611 of which were placed to the emergency 9-1-1 line. The Bureau also maintained an average 9-1-1 call answer time of less than five seconds.

effect this past Jan., is available at www.haltonpolice.ca under Services -> Publications.

2017-2019 Corporate Business Plan: The 2017-2019 Corporate Business Plan was completed in 2016. The document, which commits the Service to Be the Leader in Community Safety and Policing Excellence, and helps ensure Halton Region's evolving law enforcement needs are met, was the product of extensive internal and external consultation. The Plan is based on four central, established themes: Community Safety and Well-being; Outreach and Collaboration; Organizational Capacity and; Organizational Excellence. The Plan, which came into

Community Safety and Well-being Planning: The Ministry of Community Safety and Correctional Services is leading the development of the Strategy for a Safer Ontario. Its focus is on finding better and smarter ways to build safer communities using a multi-sectoral and collaborative approach to Community Safety and Well-being. The Halton Regional Police Service partnered with Halton Region and other community agencies in 2016 to create a framework for addressing issues of shared concern. Development of the Region's inaugural Community Safety and Well-being Plan continues in 2017 with its official launch expected later this year.

Halton Regional Police Service 2016 Service Highlights

Situation Table: This collaborative risk-mitigation initiative deals with situations of acutely elevated risk that are brought to the attention of police and/or community partners. A network of human service providers, including HRPS, convenes weekly to identify lead agencies and coordinate multi-sectoral responses for specific situations that arise. In 2016, 43 of 146 cases were assigned to the HRPS, with the balance undertaken by partner agencies.

PAVIS: The Provincial Anti-Violence Intervention Strategy (PAVIS) is a multi-agency program run through the Ministry of Community Safety and Correctional Services. HRPS' most recent funding submission to the PAVIS Program was initiated in 2016 and was approved later that year for use until Dec. 31. Funds received were allocated to increased weekend/evening patrols of individuals who failed to comply with court-imposed conditions, additional resources to pursue arrest warrants and collaboration with partners regarding the sentencing of offenders. All told, 185 individuals were re-arrested last year as a result of the program.

Mobile Crisis Rapid Response Team: To enhance service delivery in the realm of mental health, the HRPS partnered with St. Joseph's Healthcare and our Local Health Integration Network (LHIN) to develop a Mobile Crisis Rapid Response Team (MCRRT) in Dec. 2015. The one year pilot project paired four police officers with a LHIN-funded registered healthcare professional. Results of the pilot included increased diversion rates of persons in crisis and reduced officer hours devoted to mental health. MCRRT was approved for permanent delivery for 2017.

One of three Detective Constables with the pilot Cyber Crime Unit analyzes and captures social media data.

Cyber Crime Unit: The HRPS began a year-long Cyber Crime Unit pilot project in late 2016. Developed in response to the growth of internet communications and social media, its aim is to support investigations which have an online or technical component to them. Supervised by one Sergeant and staffed by three highly-trained Detective Constables, the Unit falls under Regional Investigative Services – Intelligence Bureau. Responsibilities of the new Unit include evidence gathering, crime prevention, fugitive apprehension, training and monitoring local, national and world events.

Human Resources:

By the Numbers: Several new sworn and civilian members joined the Service in 2016: seven Cadets (May), three experienced officers, 30 recruits-in-training and four full-time, non-uniform positions. Factoring in departures and retirements, this brings the total number of HRPS employees at year's end to 697 sworn officers and 281 civilians.

Halton Regional Police Service 2016 Service Highlights

Members of the Tactical Rescue Unit (TRU) meet with Dr. Jane Storrie as part of the Service's 'Check-up from the neck up' campaign.

Organizational Wellness Unit: The HRPS created its Organizational Wellness Unit in Jan. 2016 following a review of mental health resources available for Service members and their families, and a needs analysis. The Unit, which operates under the Human Resources Bureau, is staffed by a full-time Staff Sergeant and Constable, and utilizes the services of Dr. Jane Storrie, a consulting psychologist. It is located in a separate, non-police building to maintain member confidentiality and reduce stigma. Services provided by the Unit include triage and referral for mental health issues, member education and self-monitoring, quick response to critical or traumatic incidents and collaboration with other police services and the Ministry of Labour.

Bias Training Curriculum: In 2016, the HRPS partnered with the Halton Multicultural Council (HMC) and Canadian Centre for Diversity and Inclusion (CCDI) to design and provide training in bias awareness, diversity and inclusion to front-line officers. In addition to ensuring a consistent approach, the Service-wide training provides first responders with the skills needed to best serve Halton's increasingly diverse community.

New In-House Applicant Testing Process: Members of the Human Resources Bureau developed a new in-house applicant testing process to enhance the quality and uniformity of the testing environment for potential new civilian hires. By moving test administration to existing staff rather than an external provider, significant cost savings were realized in 2016 alone.

Technology:

In-Car Camera System Pilot: The Service ran a year-long In-Car Camera System (ICCS) pilot program from Feb. to Sep. 2016. Three traffic enforcement vehicles (two in 1 District and one in 2 District) were outfitted with in-car cameras to explore how the technology could enhance public safety and support officers in traffic enforcement activities and investigations. Over the course of the pilot, approximately 4,100 video events were captured by 19 trained users. The systems were turned off and removed at the completion of the project and a report was submitted to Senior Command for review.

Halton Regional Police Service 2016 Service Highlights

External Website Redesign: The Service's external website (www.haltonpolice.ca) received a facelift in 2016 to enhance its functionality and overall user experience. Key changes included optimization for use on mobile devices, simplified navigation and real-time streaming of the main @HaltonPolice Twitter feed.

New App for iOS and Android: In Apr. 2016, Deputy Chief Durraiappah led the rollout of the Service's new mobile app for iOS and Android. The free smartphone app, which is available for download at the Apple App Store and Google Play, provides users with real-time access to HRPS press releases, regional crime maps, frequently asked questions and the ability to file reports for some occurrences.

Internal Portal Re-launch: After two years of research, design and development, the Information Technology Department launched the Service's next generation internal portal on Sep. 6, 2016. The new system features updated software to support platform upgrades, improved search functionality for quick and easy access to information, and enhanced permission settings for users that enable them to share content with specific audiences or Units.

Online Police Record Checks: As part of an ongoing effort to harness technology, increase efficiency and better serve members of the public, the HRPS introduced Online Police Record Checks. Available via www.haltonpolice.ca, the program allows Halton residents aged 21 and over to apply for Police Information Checks and Vulnerable Sector Checks 24 hours a day, seven days a week without having to attend a police station. All aspects of the process are handled electronically using a secure, third-party provider. Since launching in Sep. 2016, the Records Bureau has processed more than 4,000 online police record checks, representing 24 per cent of requests.

Facilities:

New Headquarters Construction Continues: Construction of the new HRPS Headquarters, which commenced in Oct. 2015 continued through 2016 with all major milestones achieved. The topping off ceremony to commemorate the completion of all steel and concrete elements was held in May, 2016. When finished later this year, the state-of-the-art, 235,000 square foot, $65-million facility will act as a central hub for training, forensics, evidence management and police administration.

Halton Regional Police Service 2016 Service Awards

Order of Merit (Deputy Chief Duraiappah): On Sep. 16, Deputy Chief Nishan Duraiappah received the prestigious Order of Merit of the Police Forces from Governor General David Johnston during a ceremony at Rideau Hall in Ottawa. The Order of Merit of the Police Forces was created in the year 2000 to honour a career of exceptional service or distinction and is the only fellowship reserved for members of Canada's law enforcement community. Deputy Duraiappah was introduced to HRPS as a student in 1991 and was promoted to Deputy Chief in Oct. 2015.

Office of Continuous Improvement and Strategic Management (OCISM): Hexagon Safety and Infrastructure recognized its collaboration with HRPS with its highest customer award, the Icon, in Jun. 2016. The Service partnered with Hexagon to implement (Hexagon's) Business Intelligence for Public Safety, an information warehouse that consolidates data from various sources. The data obtained is analyzed and used to help the Service best allocate resources. HRPS was recognized with a ComputerWorld Data & Editors' Choice Award for the same project in Sep. 2016.

Victim Services: The Victim Services Unit (VSU) received an Excellence in Victim Services Award from the International Association of Chiefs of Police and Login Inc. at their annual conference in San Diego in Oct. 2016. The award recognizes law enforcement agencies worldwide that provide innovative, victim-centred approaches to support. Founded more than 20 years ago, HRPS' VSU is comprised of 57 highly-trained, multilingual volunteers and staff who work with police to provide crisis intervention and assistance 24 hours a day, seven days a week. In 2016, the VSU supported 829 victims of crime and tragedy in Halton.

Diversity and Inclusion: In Nov. 2016, the Service was named a Top 10 2016 International Innovation Award Winner from The Profiles in Diversity Journal. The list celebrates innovations and excellence in the areas of diversity and inclusion. Initiatives undertaken by the HRPS Regional Community Mobilization Bureau (RCMB) included creating Diversity Forums to connect with Halton's diverse communities, its Multi-Faith Support Team (MFST) - a resource for members to enhance cultural competency - and ongoing support of the Police Ethnic And Cultural Education Youth Leadership Program (PEACE).

Traffic:

Residential Traffic/Stop Sign/Speeding (RTSS): To address complaints of speeding and failure to comply with stop signs in residential areas, Burlington's District Response Team launched Residential Traffic/Stop Sign/Speeding (RTSS) in Jan. 2016. The year-long traffic safety initiative used education and enforcement to reduce vehicle speeds on identified residential roadways and promote safer driving habits. Close to 3,000 hours were dedicated to RTSS, resulting in more than 7,260 traffic stops and almost 7,100 Provincial Offence Notices (PONs) issued.

Project Viator: Traffic officers from each District joined forces in Aug. 2016 to target the "Big 4" driving behaviours of greatest concern in Halton: Speeding, Distracted Driving, Impaired Driving and Stop Sign infractions. Its goal was for officers to have meaningful dialogues with motorists they pulled over and encourage them to drive safely in the future. Over the course of the three day project – which began in Georgetown before shifting to Oakville and Burlington – 371 traffic stops were initiated for Highway Traffic Act (HTA) violations and 238 PONs were issued.

Project Bottleneck: Members of Oakville's District Response Team implemented Project Bottleneck in Sep. 2016 in response to complaints about the volume of traffic blocking two of the Town's heavily travelled intersections (Trafalgar Rd. at Cornwall Rd. and at Cross Ave.). The three-day enforcement blitz focused on motorists who impeded the flow of traffic by entering intersections when it was not clear to do so. More than 40 tickets were issued to drivers for this or other infractions such as not yielding to traffic or failing to stop at a red light.

Operation Decoy: A new speed awareness initiative, Operation Decoy, began in Burlington in 2016. Through the use of speed sentry equipment and marked, unmanned police vehicles in select, highly-visible areas, motorists receive impactful, visual speed deterrents. To prevent complacency, marked police vehicles were replaced with officers during the latter, enforcement phase of the campaign.

Project Northern Highway: As part of Crime Prevention Week, HRPS Commercial Motor Vehicle officers partnered with the Ontario Provincial Police (O.P.P.) and Peel Regional Police Service to target commercial motor vehicles operating along the Hwy. 7 corridor in Georgetown and Acton. The focus of the blitz was on vehicles with insecure loads or mechanical defects. Thirty-two of 46 vehicles inspected were taken out of service and a total of 112 Highway Traffic Act charges were laid.

Other Programs: Several annual traffic campaigns continued in 2016, including Project Safe Start (Aug. and Sep.), and Holiday R.I.D.E. (Nov. and Dec.). Cst. Mark Taraso, a patrol officer in Oakville, joined Twitter in Feb. 2016 as @MT9345, the Service's distracted driving expert. In less than a year, his tweets-from-the-beat have amassed more than 3,300 followers.

Halton Regional Police Service 2016 Major Projects

Community Engagement:

Partnership with the Canadian Centre for Diversity and Inclusion: As part of an ongoing effort to remain a leader in community safety and policing excellence, HRPS partnered with the Canadian Centre for Diversity and Inclusion (CCDI), an expert in workplace diversity and inclusion, in Feb. 2016. HRPS is one of four police services nationwide utilizing CCDI's expertise to enhance its organizational capacity and better serve its growing communities. Benefits of the partnership include educational opportunities for members, and access to Canadian diversity and inclusion research, data and best practices. Many of these resources are accessible to officers from the mobile workstations in their vehicles.

Crime Prevention Week Distracted Driving PSA: Based on findings by the Collision Reconstruction Unit regarding the role incoming text messages play in many serious and fatal motor vehicle collisions, members of the Regional Community Mobilization Bureau and Corporate Communications and Marketing Unit partnered to develop a Distracted Driving PSA in Nov. 2016. The high impact, 30-second video featuring HRPS Honourary Officer James Hinchcliffe was showcased in local cinemas during the province's annual Crime Prevention Week and was promoted on social media.

No Valuables on Board: The No Valuables on Board (NVO) initiative was launched by 2 District in Oakville in Dec. 2016. The innovative, award-winning program aims to educate members of the community about theft from auto and how to prevent it by locking vehicle doors and removing items of value. Officers partnered with local retailers during the holiday shopping season to engage with patrons about the issue, and interactions were posted on social media. Impressed by the program and its results in Halton, Toronto Police Service adopted and launched a similar version of NVO in Apr. 2017.

Service Launches Addictionaryhalton.com: In May 2016, the HRPS Drug and Morality Unit launched www.addictionaryhalton.com to help educate parents and youth about the dangers of drugs and substance abuse. The online resource lists street drugs found in Halton Region, gives information on drug trends and provides links to community resources to help those suffering from addiction and their loved ones.

Halton Regional Police Service 2016 Major Projects

Rail Safety Week Collaboration with GO Transit, CN Police and CP Police: HRPS members partnered with GO Transit, CN Police and CP Police during Rail Safety Week from Apr. 25 – May 1, 2016. With the aim of promoting safe interaction with trains moving throughout the Region, officers attended the Burlington GO station during morning rush hour on Apr. 26 and distributed safety tip sheets to those they encountered. In addition to Rail Safety Week, the HRPS supports year-round collective efforts to advance mental health awareness, including the installation of track-side signage encouraging those in crisis to reach out for community support.

Dress For Success in Support of Halton Women's Place: In Apr. 2016, the Halton Regional Police Service Domestic Violence Investigative Unit (DVIU) launched Dress For Success, a clothing drive in support of Halton Women's Place. The goal of the month-long program was to provide shelter clients with gently-used professional attire that helped them thrive and feel confident in the workplace. More than 120 large bags of new and gently-used items were collected for the cause, with excess donations offered to organizations like the Compassion Society.

DVIU Healthy Partner Relationship Program: The Service's Domestic Violence Investigative Unit (DVIU) partnered with the John Howard Society and Halton Women's Place in 2016 to develop a program for men who engage in, or are at risk of engaging in, controlling behaviours. The Healthy Partner Relationship Program is a 10-week pre-offence therapeutic group designed to reduce the risk of relationship violence. The program, which is still in its infancy, has been well received; the John Howard Society in St. Catharines has adopted it and expansion to other jurisdictions is pending.

Tiger Jeet and Tiger Ali Singh Named Honourary Officers: The Service named father and son wrestling legends and philanthropists, Tiger Jeet Singh and Tiger Ali Singh, as its second and third Honourary Police Officers. The Milton residents' new status is part of HRPS' Community First campaign, which focuses on enhancing community safety and well-being across Halton Region. The Singh's were presented with their Honourary Police Officer badges and assumed roles as Service ambassadors at the annual Halton Heroes Gala on Sep. 16, 2016. Now in its fifth year, Halton Heroes raises funds for the families of Service officers who die in the line of duty. To date, more than $250,000 has been collected in trust.

Santa for Seniors: Former HRPS Elder Services Coordinator Cst. Wendy Moraghan has led the Service's annual Santa for Seniors initiative since 2013. Santa for Seniors matches employees with men and women living in Halton's three Region-run long-term care homes. In the weeks leading up to the holidays, members received wish lists from each senior, many of whom do not have family or are alone on Christmas morning. The 2016 Santa for Seniors campaign was the most successful to date, raising an estimated $12,500 in gifts for 235 elderly area residents.

The arrest followed a warning by the Service in Jan. 2016 regarding the illicit use of cough medicine containing dextromethorphan and the risks associated with misuse.

Speed Proves Lethal in Two Collisions Less Than a Week Apart

Following an investigation into a single motor vehicle collision in Milton that claimed two lives on the afternoon of Apr. 10, 2016, the HRPS Collision Reconstruction Unit charged four residents (one adult and three youths) with two counts each of Dangerous Driving Causing Death. All of the drivers and passengers, including the deceased, were known to one another. ## Crime Statistics Overview:

This section of the Halton Regional Police Service's Annual Report provides a statistical summary for 2015 and 2016. Data was obtained from the Service's in-house Niche Records Management System (RMS) and from the Police Analytics Unit. It should be noted that the crime categories are slightly different than those reported by Statistics Canada at each year's end due to the reporting requirements and data processes utilized by Statistics Canada.

Analysis indicates that 684 more criminal offences were reported in 2016 (10,638) than in 2015 (9,954). This is a raw number increase of 6.9% but represents a 4.4% rise in crime rate when Regional population growth is taken into account. While this marks the first rise in Halton's crime rate since 2010, the 2016 rate is likely to be the lowest for all large Canadian municipalities and is the second lowest since regionalization in 1974. Official data will be released by Statistics Canada this July.

Violent crime offences increased by 10.2% from 1,973 in 2015 to 2,175 in 2016. This represents a 7.7% rise in the violent crime rate taking population change within Halton into account. These crimes accounted for 20.4% of all criminal offences, up from 19.8% in 2015.

Property crime also increased 3.5%, from 6,787 in 2015 to 7,025 in 2016, representing a 1.2% rise in property crime rate. The "Other Crime" category, which includes prostitution, gaming and betting, offensive weapons and other criminal code offences, was up by 20.4% from 1,194 offences in 2015 to 1,438 in 2016. This is a crime rate increase of 17.7% in this category of crimes.

The 2016 clearance rate (49.5%) was up significantly from 46.4% reported in 2015.

Total Calls for Service increased by 2,982, or 2.0%, from 151,355 in 2015 to 154,337 in 2016.
